CALL OF CTHULHU

"Ph'nglui mglw'nafh Cthulhu R'lyeh wgah'nagl fhtagn,"

If you can translate the above sentence you may be ready to undertake a short lived, but semi-glorious career as a 1920's horror investigator. Or as a 1920's lunch for an ever famished elder god. The possibilities are endless.

Starting in late September, early October, I will be submitting 5-6 hapless souls unto a journey in possibly the best RPG campaign/adventure ever written, "Horror on the Orient Express". For those unfamiliar with Call of Cthulhu, it is a horror based RPG set in the 1920's and based upon the collected works of Howard Phillip Lovecraft. And the campaign is set there within.

I am looking for 2-3 more players who fit the following criteria. Must be mature, able to commit to 14-20 bi-weekly game sessions spanning from October until we are finished. Must be able to drive to Lawrenceburg, IN (not every session but some, I am willing to alternate where the group plays), Heavy roleplaying and less rules lawyering preferred. I am looking to play Sunday (the time can vary) or Tuesday evenings. Newcomers to Call of Cthulhu welcome.
